

No one has the right to invade the privacy of my home without my consent. I should not have to listen to companies soliciting me on the phone.